

Hello!

I would like to explain to you what the EUTB is and what they can do for you.

EUTB is an acronym for Ergänzende unabhängige Teilhabeberatung.

The E stands for Ergänzende which means complementary, the U stands for unabhängige which means independent, the T stands for Teilhabe which means participation and the B stands for Beratung which means counselling.

This forms the complementary independent participation counselling.

The EUTB Darmstadt counsels people with disabilities, their families, and their legal guardians. People with a serious illness or people who are at risk of disability can also receive counselling here.

The counselling is free.

People who have personal experiences with disability work at the EUTB: they are parents of children with intellectual disabilities or have a disability themselves, for example a mental disability or a visual impairment.

The EUTB Darmstadt wants to support all people with disabilities by informing them of their possibilities and right to participate in society and by helping them access these.

Appointments are generally arranged via phone or email. You contact us by calling 06151-8002021 or by sending an email to info@gleichxanders.de, and we will respond promptly.

We look forward to hearing from you!
